BELGIUM-HOLLAND COMMISSION NAMED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Monday, June 30.—Belgium has named its members of the commission which will revise the treaty of 1839 and the peace conference has requested Holland to name its members so that a meeting can be held.

It has been decided to name an international commission of 14 members to give further examination to the divergent viewpoints of Belgium and Holland on questions affecting those countries which were raised before the peace conference. Each of the five great powers will have two delegates and two will also be allowed to each of the two interested countries.

The German delegation has sent to the conference a note inquiring when and where it will begin negotiations regarding the application of the administration of the left bank of the Rhine during the period of occupation.

BOLSHEVISM AND BOURBONISM SCORED BY JUDGE WINSLOW

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] La Crosse, July 1.—A call upon the lawyers of Wisconsin to meet the fallacy of bolshevism by good arguments, a declaration that the old bourgeois order has passed away and a plea for the simplification of the court procedure in Wisconsin featured the address of Chief Justice John B. Winslow at the Wisconsin bar association meeting here Tuesday afternoon. The first joint meeting of the Wisconsin and Minnesota bar associations is being held here Tuesday afternoon. The meeting Wednesday is to be addressed by former president William H. Taft.

"The world war has shaken the structure of the organized society to its foundations. There must be reconstruction, rebuilding and readjustment, social, economic, and political, on a scale which has never before been seen. On one side stands the invincible bourgeoisie who demands that the old order be restored," declared Chief Justice Winslow, "not perceiving the fact that the moving finger writes, and having written, moves onward; never backward on the other hand stands the bolshevik who demands that the old order be blotted out and that the class which he calls the proletariat rule the world.

"They are equally impossible, the bourgeois and the bolshevik, but while bourgeois may perhaps with safety be allowed to dig its own grave, bolshevism can not be treated in that way. It must be met with calmness, with fairness and with reason the people to whom the class appeal is made must be brought to see that it is a wrong proposition and that it can only be done by demonstrating that democracy can and will treat them justly.

"Bolshevism is based on the claim that the laboring class has not been treated justly and that democracy while pretending to be government by the whole people is really government by the capitalist class which exploits the labor and fleeces the whole people with the idea that he has his due share in the government when in fact he has not. To meet this claim it will not be sufficient to point out to the bolshevik that on his own hypothesis, his proposition is simply a proposition to substitute for the rule of one class, the rule of another. The argument may be logical but it will not be convincing to minds not imbued with a sense of justice, especially if the stomach is empty.

"It is to be remembered, that after all, bolshevism is a symptom, it is but a symptom of a more properly speaking an incident in the age-long fight of the common people against privilege. I would not be misunderstood here; I am not discussing the question as to the soundness or justice of the bolshevik argument. I am simply stating the substance of the argument and suggesting some of the obvious things which make it attractive to the so-called proletariat. Do you say that I am an alarmist? I say no, I am simply stating facts which are not generally realized or spoken about."

POTATO LEAFHOPPER IS HARD AT WORK

Madison, June 30.—The potato leafhopper, the newly discovered pest which has caused a loss of several million bushels, is again hard at work and threatens a loss as great as last year.

The state department of agriculture is sending out warnings over the state to prevent it possible the insect's ravages.

The adult hoppers appeared on the earliest potatoes about a week ago and began laying eggs. The young are already present in some fields, but in most they have not hatched out as yet.

Many fields were saved last year by spraying with nicotine sulphate or kerosene emulsion, according to Doctor Fracker of the state department of agriculture. Nicotine sulphate, or kerosene emulsion, is used in the proportion of 1 to 2 teaspoonful to the gallon. Five times as much soap as tobacco solution should be added. Kerosene emulsion may be used if the nicotine sulphate is not obtainable.

The field should not be sprayed until the young hoppers appear—as the adults fly readily and are not killed. The young hoppers must be hit by the spray. It is not sufficient merely to cover the leaves. As the hoppers are always on the underside of the leaves the spraying must be done either by using an iron pipe bent into a hook or by drawing the potato vines over and spraying from one side. The nicotine sulphate may be used with Bordeaux mixture if desired.

Naval Bill Adopted. Washington.—The conference report on the $816,000,000 naval appropriation bill was adopted by the house and the senate.

PAWNBROKERS MAY COME BACK TO U. S. CAPITOL, SAYS HASKIN

Jewelry Is Restored. One such pawnbroker in the district before the enactment of the law which was instrumental in having seven valuable pieces of jewelry restored to the late Admiral Dewey. In relating the incident, he said that an elderly man came into his office and asked for a loan on an antique gold chain. The pawnbroker assumed from the little the applicant knew about the value of the chain that he must have loaned it to him for a few dollars was made, for the value of the chain would have warranted an advance of more than $100. The police were notified. The man brought more jewelry, and under instructions from the police, other small sums were advanced him. Within a month he brought seven pieces of jewelry worth thousands of dollars. He was advanced a total loan of about $100. The police finally took the man into custody and he confessed to having stolen the jewelry from the home of Admiral Dewey. The admiral was surprised to learn of the facts, as he was not even aware that the jewelry was missing. The man was a servant long in the employ of the admiral. A Virginia pawnbroker so long ago, a Virginia pawnbroker advanced $1,000 to a man on three large diamond rings. After making the loan, the pawnbroker came uneasy about the transaction, and notified the Virginia police. The diamonds resembled those stolen from the home of an ex-senator of Virginia. An examination of the stones by the ex-senator put the pawnbroker to flight. The police inquired of the pawnbroker's standing in his home town and received this reply: "Man is one of our leading attorneys. Worth half a million dollars."

It developed that he had come to Washington to enter the army and urgently needed some immediate money so he pawned his diamonds. The pawnbroker's measures introduced in congress which will enable the pawnbrokers to return to the district. Congressman Dyer's bill allows an interest rate of three percent a month on all loans up to $50 and two percent on all loans above that amount. The other bill by Senator Dillingham fixes a general rate of two percent on all loans.

The Dyer bill provides "that the surplus money, if any, arising from the sale of the articles pawned, after deducting the amount of the loan, and the interest thereon due on the date of sale, shall be paid over by the pawnbroker to the person who would be entitled to redeem the pledge in case no such sale had taken place."

Another section stipulates "that, in addition to the advertisement of sale in the newspapers, it shall be the duty of pawnbrokers to publish a notice of sale, calling attention to the fact that the pledge is past due and will be sold if not satisfactorily arranged for, by paying all or portion of the loan, at least once a week, in his possession at least a year, according to the Dyer bill.

The original legislation which put the pawnshop out of business in Washington was aimed at loan sharks, those so-called "10-percenters" who operate on a quite different basis. The new legislation will not allow the "10-percenters" to resume business. The district government is in favor of letting "Uncle" open up if he is properly regulated.

WOMEN WORKERS' MINIMUM WAGE LAW IS SWEEPING

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, July 1.—The order of the industrial commission announced yesterday, fixing the minimum wage for women in Wisconsin, was in many respects the most sweeping order ever issued by a Wisconsin commission, in that it affects every woman employed in the state.

It was merely following out the provisions of the act passed by the legislature in 1912. A petition was filed for the commission to do so the industrial commission shall, after investigation, fix the minimum living wage which can be paid to female employees in the state.

Within a year after the law was passed and, at a time when none of the present members were on the commission, a petition was filed for the commission to fix the minimum living wage. A survey was made, but in the meantime the Oregon law had been carried to the United States supreme court and then the European war had started and the commission announced that in view of the fact that the Oregon law, which was similar to the Wisconsin law, had been carried to the United States supreme court, it was deemed advisable to wait for that decision.

Nothing more was done in the matter until a few months ago, when another petition was filed. Hearings were held in different cities, and practically every class of work employing women and minors was studied as well as the cost of living in different parts of the state.

Under the law of 1913 it was the duty of the commission to fix the minimum wage for women and minors. The commission for a literal interpretation of the order, George B. Hambrecht, chairman of the industrial commission, said the order meant that 22 cents per hour for women and minors at the present time. This, he said, applies to all women, those employed in stores, offices, factories, and even domestic service. The commission also provided in its ruling that where room and board is furnished by the employer an allowance of $1.00 per week for all loans up to $50 and two percent on all loans above that amount. This means that women employed 48 hours per week are entitled to a minimum wage of $10.56. Those employed 50 hours $11.10, those employed 52 hours $11.64, and those employed 54 hours $12.18 per week.

NON-PARTISAN WAR PROGRAM IS READ IN TOWNLEY TRIAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Jackson, Minn., July 1.—The war program of the Non-Partisan league, drawn up nearly two years ago in St. Paul, was introduced as evidence this forenoon at the trial of A. C. Townley, president of the national Non-Partisan league, and Joseph Gilbert, a league organizer, who are charged with conspiracy to commit disloyalty.

The Minnesota supreme court some time ago decided that the words used in the pamphlet were not in themselves disloyal. The prosecution in the present case argued that would attempt to show that this pamphlet was one method used by the league to discourage aggressive participation in the war.

Two of the paragraphs printed in the pamphlet follow:

"The contributory causes of the present war are various, but above the horrible slaughter looms the ugly incitings of an economic system based upon exploitation. It is largely a control of warring nations for control of a constantly diminishing market. Rival groups of monopolists are playing a deadly game for commercial supremacy. Private monopoly must be supplanted by public administration of credits, finance and natural resources.

"We declare unequivocally that we stand for our country right or wrong as against foreign governments with whom we are actually engaged in war. We hold that when we believe our country wrong we should endeavor to set her right."

ANTI-BOLSHEVIKI ADVANCE ON KURSK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, July 1.—Anti-bolshevik forces are advancing against Kursk, 250 miles south of Moscow, and Voronezh, hoping to find a way to Moscow, according to a Russian wireless message quoted by the official bolshevik organ, Izvestia.

It is added that the bolsheviks suffered a severe defeat at Kharkov, 130 miles south of Kursk, and have lost Ekaterinoslav, 115 miles southwest of Kharkov.

GOV. LOWDEN KILLS STATE BOXING BILL

Springfield, Ill., July 1.—Governor Lowden vetoed the Gorman "ten round" no decision boxing bill" in the closing minutes of the fifty-first general assembly yesterday afternoon, and boxing in Illinois is dead for two years at least.

His veto message to the assembly which killed the bill was clean cut and decisive. He prefaced it with the statement:

"I favor boxing. I had hoped that a bill would be presented to me which would authorize boxing as we have learned to know it at the military camps during the past two years."

But this hope, the Governor adds, was not realized.

Here, briefly, are the faults of the bill, as the governor sees them, and the reasons which compelled him to kill the measure:

It provides all the accessories for a prize fight save the decision.

By revoking several sections of the criminal code which hitherto have prohibited prize fighting, the Gorman bill not only permitted "ten round, no decision" bouts, but actually legalized prize fighting in any form.

It was patterned after the New York bill, which proved so unsatisfactory that it was repealed. "There is no reason to believe that this measure would prove more satisfactory," the governor adds.

Its sweeping provisions confer legislative power on the athletic commission, a grant which the legislature has no right to make, and which makes the bill unconstitutional.

Text of His Message.

The constitutionality of the bill is questioned by the attorney general. No appropriation is made to meet the expenses of the commission or to carry out the provisions of the bill.

This is a Greater Maxwell

There have been many improvements made in the Maxwell since the war ceased. Some of them have made the car look better. Others have made it run better.

You will note a new type radiator, a further advance in body detail, an improved electric system, a Hot Spot and a Ram's-horn, a superior development in upholstery, and a top more durable.

Any of these is well worth any man's time to look over, and the sum of all represent a decided value added to the car, which post-war purchases for cash have made possible without increasing the price.

But the fundamentals of the car are unchanged. 300,000 Maxwells on the highways of the world—all of the same model—have proved that a policy of never changing the base design is profitable in more ways than one to buyer and maker.

It means extra value at a lower price.
It means perfection in design.
It means perfection in workmanship.
It means you pay for no experiments, no engineering knick-knacks.
It means you pay for no mistakes.
It means a car of everlasting reliability.
It means a car of endless mileage.

You can easily pay $200 more and receive less. This Maxwell is old in antecedents but modern as far as sound engineering dare go.

There is no car of the day selling for so low a price to offer so many attractive inducements.

See this recent Maxwell, and bear in mind that despite the eight great Maxwell plants the supply is already running far short of the demand.

WIRE RATES.

What the country is up against in the settlement of the wire rates is expressed as follows in the El Paso, Texas, Herald:

"The public utilities commissions of the state and municipalities are going to be busier during the next few months than ever before in their careers.
Congress is returning the telephone and telegraph wires to their private owners, and once they have been returned the public service commissions will be flooded with demands that the increased rates established for telephone and telegraph service during the period of government control be revised."

"The people in the various communities are going to demand that these rates be revised downward. The owners, on the other hand, are going to insist that the rates be maintained or that they be still further increased."

"Between the upper and nether millstones the public service corporations are in a way to become a few unpopular. Unless the government rates are reduced for a period of from three to six months, according to the support given the senate or house provisions. It is expected that the president will approve the measure."

"Popular condemnation of the operation of the wires under government control has been widespread. It appears that no one has been satisfied, neither the employees nor the public.
The companies are hungry to have their properties returned to them, or at least they are throwing a pretty good bluff to that effect—notwithstanding the government guarantee of dividends and the fact that the guarantee had not been given in full with the higher rates, the companies, in many instances, would have been operated at a loss."

"The public expects to get cheaper and more efficient service when the wires are returned. The employees expect to keep the wage increases they have received under government control and perhaps to better them. And to obtain other concessions in the matter of treatment. The companies expect to retain the rates fixed while government control has been in effect and to obtain still higher rates in some instances."

"How the public, the employees and the companies all are to achieve their desires is difficult to understand. The solution of the problem will be, to a large extent, in the hands of the public utilities commissions and their job is not an enviable one. In many communities and states the public service corporations, the companies claim, have been antagonistic to them, have refused to permit increases in rates, and have been inclined to favor the public in the matter of rates. But the question arises, how can the higher wages be maintained, the public be served at lower rates, and the companies kept out of bankruptcy?"

"Until the cost of food, clothes and rent come down there seems little possibility of a reduction in wages without serious social disturbances.
Until wages come down, and the costs of materials used by the wire companies, and the added costs for new capital, the companies figure that it will be impossible to make reductions in rates and continue in business. Yet the public is clamoring for lower rates for its telephones and telegraph messages."

STILL TO BE RATIFIED.

It is a generally accepted belief that the war is a thing of the past and everything all over. Still the treaty with Germany has yet to be ratified by the several nations and Austria has not yet received her final terms.
It looks as if things would go smoothly, but there is much still to be done.
Concerning this view the Bloomington Ill., Daily Pantagraph, has the following to say:

"The peace treaty has been signed and in all probability the historians of the future will refer to June 28, 1919, as the day marking the formal ending of the war. It will be just as well, however, for people of the present day to recognize that something more than the mere signing of the treaty is required for the establishment of peace in the full sense. The treaty that was signed at Versailles, Saturday, must be ratified by the various nations before its provisions can become operative."

"It is hardly likely that Germany will decline to ratify the treaty now that her representatives have signed it.
For her to refuse to ratify would mean a continuation of the allied blockade and Germany is in no position to withstand such a blockade much longer. The world may look for more wailing and gnashing of teeth on the part of the Germans and then ratification."

"As far as the allies are concerned
there is no indication that France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan or the other nations will refuse to ratify the treaty. It is true that China refused to sign the treaty, but it is altogether probable that China's objections will be met and adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned."

reservations. When the time comes for the senate to act it is not at all unlikely that the treaty will be ratified without conditions or reservations.

"Without doubt the treaty has its imperfections and for those who are inclined to be super-critical it will be extremely easy to pick flaws. But taken as a whole there is no reason for question that the treaty is as desirable an instrument as could have been framed under all the circumstances. Now that it has been signed it should be ratified by all the nations involved at the earliest possible moment. There will be little excuse for any nation which seeks to delay final ratification."

L. A. Markham, former county agricultural agent, made an enviable record in his work here before leaving for Russia. Acting Agent R. E.
Acheson has carried on the work with splendid success. The new appointee to the office, R. T. Glasco, who takes up his duties today, will have one of the best organized and most productive counties in the state to push up still another rung on the ladder.

The 2-cent stamp is back again. After boosting the government's finances with a cent extra on every letter mailed during the war revenue days
the old red stamp is good for sore eyes. But at that records are likely to show that the letter business was heavier during the 3-cent period than before. Of course, most everyone was away from home.

The Rev. Henry Willmann, who has been absent from his pulpit at the Immanuel Episcopal church for several months on account of poor health and subsequent rest taken at his old home in the east, is gladly welcomed home by his parishioners and the general public.

Then comes as a morning after sauce for that bustling scene, the "wet" news that has won a slight reputation for the sale of which will not be arrested pending court ruling on the degree of intoxication. Still they had tried to drink it all up last night.

An American officer in Brest is reported as tramping on a French flag while he was under the influence of liquor. A riot started. The marines were called in and quelled the trouble-makers. It's a great reputation for our overseas army officers.

The crown prince evidently knows his game. He likes to keep the people guessing. Perhaps he is afraid the limelight will lose the glow of his name. First he escapes, then he doesn't. He did last night, but this morning he didn't.

Governor Lowden of Illinois has

THE CURB MARKET

One of the most interesting institutions, the curb market, is threatened with extinction. It is in danger of being converted into an ordinary indoor exchange.

For 30 years, the curb market has transacted business in the streets of downtown New York. A severe storm sometimes drives the curb brokers indoors, but otherwise, in winter and summer, all day long, sane and prosperous business men throng Broad street from curb to curb, they jump about excitedly, violently waving their arms, shouting, and signaling to clerks in windows of the offices above.

Missing—A Husband and a Wife

Strangers in New York have often rushed to the scene of the curb market thinking that a riot was in progress.

Now, it is stated, the curb brokers plan to house the market in order to keep persons who are not members from selling and buying stock through their exchange. This project has many times been suggested but always without success. The curb market has always been an informal organization with no rules such as organizations in the New York stock exchange.
Now the brokers are anxious to limit the membership to 600 and to eliminate outsiders.

Indoors the market would continue as usual, handling its own line of securities. The curb market has always dealt in stocks not traded in by the conservative exchanges. The greater part of its business is with the small brokers, though some of the magnate
brokers, though some of the magnate who pay $75.00 for admission to the stock exchange send representatives to the curb market.

London—The seven stages of matri-

Whitaker, of New Barnet, who has just celebrated his diamond wedding.
First, the period of sentimentality.
Second, Romance.
Third, the period of disillusion.
Fourth, patience.
Fifth, the period of reformation.
Sixth, contentment.
Seventh, the ultra romantic period.

Q. What is a contract marriage?
Where is it legal? P. D.

A. Contract marriage is now the commonly accepted doctrine that marriage is a civil contract requiring only the free and intelligent consent of parties capable of contracting. A contract of this sort, drawn up and signed, is a marriage in the eyes of the law in all the states. It needs no ceremony or solemnization. Marriage in the sense of the completed marriage contract is unlike any other contract known to the law, chiefly because it cannot be terminated or dissolved by the parties but only by the sovereign power of the state.

Q. What is meant by "Hobson's Choice"? P. M.

A. To take what is offered or noth-keeper named Tobias Hobson made his customers take the horse nearest the door.

Q. Is Empress Eugenie, wife of Louis Napoleon III, living? P. G.

A. Yes. Empress Eugenie, widow of Louis Napoleon III, lives at Farn-borough, England. She is now 93 years old.

Q. Why is Death Valley, in California so called? P. A.

A. Name is derived from the fact that in 1849 a party of pioneers perished there from thirst. It is one of the hottest and driest places in the United States.

Q. How many people in the United

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MOULTON

BUT WHO WANTS TO LIVE IN JAPAN?

Dear Roy—We'll know the movie censor was in the habit of making deep incisions in mushy films. But facts at hand regarding the number of feet of film that may be given to a kiss bring curious facts to light. Different state impose different limitations, among the most stringent being 30 feet. More than 3,000 osculations disappeared under the influence of the shears in the past six months.
And not only this, but in Japan kisses in the movies have recently been entirely eliminated.

A man with much civic pride died in Michigan last week and left all he had to the city. All he had was a wife and nine children.

Judging by the divorce records, the average marriage certificate is only a scrap of paper. Some scrap.

PERHAPS.

I wonder
What the old mountebanks:
Chaucer,
Catullus,
Boccaccio,
Balsac,
Ad infinitum
Would say
If they knew
That these modern word-mongers
Were cutting up indifferent prose
Into odd lengths
Like this
And sending it to you
And getting it printed?
I rather imagine
They would be green with envy!

If we can hang on just a little bit longer maybe the Old Wolf will be foiled. Dog biscuits have dropped 5 cents a box. Next perhaps will be a drop in cockroach paste, and finally it will get around to the more or less human family.

SALOON LICENSES GRANTED BY CITY FATHERS LAST NIGHT

Without a dissenting vote the members of the city council last night voted to issue licenses to 38 saloons in this city, agreed licenses were issued but will not be delivered until President Wilson lifts the war-time dry bill.

Two new applicants, George Easer and George Doughterty, were granted permits. They will open saloons when the lid is lifted in places formerly operated as saloons.

Alderman John J. Dulin, chairman of the license committee, after a careful investigation of the places, moved that the licenses be issued, but not delivered, until the ban had been lifted.

One of the remarkable things which came to light at the meeting was that only three druggists in the city applied for licenses to sell alcoholic liquors. The three applicants were J. McCarthy, P. C. Bunt, and George King.

There was no lengthy discussion before the liquor licenses were granted. Aldermen all agreed with Mr. Dulin and his motion was carried without any questions being asked.

Taxi Licenses.
On motion of Alderman Dulin, Gilbert Zuhn, Matt Harnish, Walter Buggs, Walter Bidwell, Edward Welsh, Roy Meyers, C. Oesmann, H. Duiler, H. P. Buggs, C. R. Handy, L. A. Sherwood, and Tom Goodman, all granted licenses to operate taxicabs in the city.

Mayor T. E. Welsh addressed the council during the evening and pointed out the necessity of installing a modern police call system. He suggested that a new police patrol be purchased.

"It is necessary that a police call system be installed and I would like to have you men consider the matter for a few days," Mayor Welsh said.

Mayor Welsh also spoke of the wages paid members of the fire and police departments and he asserted that due to the ever increasing cost of living he believed that a wage adjustment was necessary.

No Kick Coming.
City Clerk Victor Hemminger read a communication from P. H. Korst, secretary of the upper water power committee, in which he called the attention of the city fathers to the loss of water power resulting from the piling in the river at Jackson street and also at Milwaukee street.

Alderman Dulin addressed the council and said he had taken the matter of the rubbish which is accumulating near the upper Chicago and Northwestern railroad bridge.

INFORMAL MEETING CALLED BY WELSH

Mayor T. E. Welsh has called an informal meeting of the city council to be held in the mayor's office at the city hall next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock to discuss the necessity of purchasing a modern police call system.

Mayor Welsh said that due to the great amount of work confronting the council at the present time that he deemed it advisable to hold an informal meeting next week.

"When the weather becomes cooler I think it will be necessary to hold one special meeting a month if the present needs of the city are to be given proper attention," Mayor Welsh said.

ALBERT KRAMER HURT WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Albert Kramer was badly cut about the head and body shortly after 7 o'clock this morning when he was struck by an automobile driven by Fred Granger. The accident, according to eye witnesses, was unavoidable.

Mr. Kramer was on his way to work at the Parker Pen Co. and it is said that he stopped suddenly in front of Granger. The car was knocked to the ground and dragged for several feet.

Mr. Granger took the man to the hospital in his car where an examination revealed no broken bones. He was later taken to his home.

SISTER DESALES IS HEAD OF HOSPITAL

Sister Desales has been chosen as superintendent of the Mercy hospital, to succeed Sister Mary Agatha, who tendered her resignation to the board of directors yesterday.

Sister Mary Agatha is retiring after 12 years service. During that time the institution has been enlarged and several changes made under her guidance.

She announced today that she did not know as yet what she was going to do. Sister Desales has been at the local convent for many years.

Five volunteers have signed up at the recruiting station on the second floor of the postoffice for overseas service. Lieut. Edward W. Madlung, with four assistants, is in the city from Chicago to secure enlistments for the army.

All are willing to go overseas duty duty to enlist by July 5, as all enlistments for that branch will be closed at midnight on that date.

Enlistments now received are for a term of three years, but those who have been in the service previously to this time may join for a term of one year.

The age limit is 18 to 35. The men who enlisted Monday are Harry Twell, George A. Webb, William Schuster, Arthur Schmidt, and John P. Schumacher.

Ice Cream Social Held on Foster Lawn

A large crowd gathered last evening on the lawn of Miss Laible Foster's home, corner of Milwaukee and Wisconsin streets to attend the ice cream social.

The lawn was lighted with Japanese lanterns, the American Electric company donating its services in wiring. Miss Laible Foster presided over the home for the social. Roy Hanson, Madison street, held the lucky number and won the victrola which was made by the Caloric company.

More than $124 was realized from the sale of the ice cream. Twelve young women, members of St. Mary's Sodality, under the direction of Miss Lydia McKibbin, waited on the tables. The women of the sodality, under the direction of Miss Lydia McKibbin, waited on the tables.

A committee made up of Mrs. George Kelly, Miss Laura Roeling and Mrs. John Harrington, had charge of the work.

The proceeds went into the school fund of the church.

Ike Drafiel Taken for Breaking Parole

Mother and Twins Slept in Stable Near Horses

Somerville, Mass.—Twin baby girls little more than a year old, with their mother, Mrs. May Harahan, 25 years discovered living in a barn. There were three horses in the barn.

Police investigation disclosed that Mrs. Harahan was employed by Elbridge Hilton, 72, a teamster, as housekeeper. Hilton has occupied the barn as a home since his house was burned a month ago.

When discovered by the police the children were asleep in a bed near the stalls occupied by the horses. Mrs. Harahan was cooking over an oil stove.

The children were placed in the care of Richard K. Godwin, agent for the State Board of Charities.

Chin Dogs Priceless Because of Ugliness

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
San Francisco, Cal.—Priceless on account of their homeliness, their worth enhanced by the fact that they are very scarce and hard to come by, two little Japanese chin dogs arrived in San Francisco on the liner Tenyo Maru. They were brought here by Mrs. M. P. Wyle, of Los Angeles.

One of the dogs, a male, was an absolutely perfect specimen of the chin dog. He is black and white and his eyes are very walled and his nose very stubbed and he is very jealous of attention shown to the other male, who is white and tan and very jealous of attention shown to him.

AUTO THROWN FROM BRIDGE; THREE MEN SLIGHTLY INJURED

Three young men, Walter, Harry and William Gaeger, town of Center, were slightly injured shortly after 5 o'clock last night when the automobile in which they were riding was thrown from a bridge on the Hanover road about four miles west of Janesville. William suffered an injured ankle and the other two brothers escaped with slight cuts and bruises. The car in which they were riding was completely demolished.

According to the story told today by the boys' father, they were enroute to Janesville to attend the evening. Approaching the bridge they saw a large touring car bearing down on them. They met on a cement culvert and the large car was thrown from the bridge.

Harry and William were hurled clear of the car during its five foot drop. Walter, who was driving, managed to stay with the machine and he escaped with a few cuts.

The touring car was driven by Walter Atwood, Janesville. It left the road, dashed through a fence and crashed against a large elm tree, and was slightly damaged. The accident was reported to Sheriff Fred Beley.

Abnormal Wheat Crop Largest in Last 12 Years

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Stockton, Cal.—That California will produce between 1,500,000 and 12,500,000 bushels of wheat this year is the estimate compiled by the agricultural department of the Sperry Company here. Harvesting is now well under way and a good crop is assured in the Northern San Joaquin Valley. It is stated that the crop this year will be the largest in the last 12 years.

On Friday the 13th Ship Sails With Coffins

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Sandusky, O.—Friday the thirteenth holds no terrors for the good ship Broeckling. On that date in June she conveyed a load of coffins and undertakers' accessories to Cedar Point to be used as exhibits at the Ohio funeral directors' convention.

WHO'S WHO in the Day's News

FREDERIC C. HOWE.
Senator King of Utah demands the removal of Frederick C. Howe from his office as commissioner of immigration, on the ground that he presided at a pro-soviet meeting in New York.

Howe is a Cleveland man and has been commissioner of immigration of that city since 1914.

He is a native of Pennsylvania, 52 years of age, but was admitted to the bar in Cleveland in 1894, and practiced law in that city for 15 years.

He was a law professor of the Cleveland College of Law, and a lecturer on taxation at Western Reserve university.

Only the president has power to remove Mr. Howe from his office, but congress may direct an investigation of the charges against him.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

By Daisy Dean
We have been hearing a number of things about Agnes Ayres recently and we thought perhaps it would be interesting to pass them on for the special benefit of Agnes Ayres fans. First, Agnes is but 23 years old and she admits it, but her looks would almost convince one that she was a few years younger than 20.

In her very young day she wanted to become a lawyer and so she went to the University of Chicago and took to wearing tortoise shell rimmed glasses and flat heels. But it did not take her long to decide that she preferred the hard to the bar so she started on her histrionic career in stock company. She played at the College theater and the Marlowe theater. Then she was attracted to the screen and played first with the Essanay in her home city. She is a slight little person with brown hair and hazel eyes. She has a pet dog "Snooks" and she claims that he brings her luck for he finds four-leaf clovers for her. (You do not have to believe that, but it's one of the many things we heard about her and so we had to put it down.)

At present Miss Ayres is making pictures for Vitaphone's "The Gamblers". She spent a week in Tarrytown during the filming of some of the scenes and now they have named a theater after her and are thinking of naming one of the principal streets after her.

Hears of Funeral Given Her Brother Overseas

The details of the military funeral, held for her brother, Morris Bistoff, at Le Mans, France, has been received by Mrs. Ed. Wollin, 534 North Hickory street. The account of the funeral given the American boys in France was written by Mary Rote, of the home communication service of the Red Cross. Similar letters are sent to the nearest of kin of all soldiers who die overseas.

3-Mile Motor Train to Cross Continent

By order of the war department a motor transport train, three miles long, will leave Washington July 7, and cross the continent to the Pacific coast, reaching San Francisco over the Lincoln highway.

Paris Dances in Rejoicing Over Peace

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Monday, June 30.—Official and popular rejoicings over the conclusion of peace continued tonight with soldiers and civilians dancing in the street and a gala reception at the city hall, which was attended by President and Madame Poincare and allied ambassadors.

The city hall was illuminated as is customary on July 14, Bastille Day, and the square in front of it was thronged with people long before the president arrived. Impromptu outdoor balls in different quarters of the city were largely attended by American soldiers.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, July 1, 1879.—Congregational lawn party at Edward Tallman's this evening, to which all are invited.

The department will take part, in uniform, in the grand street parade on the Fourth and will be present at the celebration.

Yesterday afternoon there was a children's party on the lawn of H. F. Bliss, in celebration of the birthday of little Faith Wilmarth of Chicago and Master Bliss.

No effort will be spared to make the picnic at Buob's grove on the Fourth the best, most complete and enjoyable in every respect of any held here in many years. The program for the day is full and attractive and all present will have a good time.

Today Miss Mary Wilcox, daughter of C. T. Wilcox, celebrated her eleventh birthday at her home at 1020 Leland on Jackson street. A large number of her friends joined in a general good time.

The members of the Concordia society returned last evening from the Summerfest in Milwaukee. They were met at the depot by the Bower City band and escorted to their hall. A feast was prepared for them, of which they partook heartily.

Ladies want to remember the special premiums that Helmsstreet offers at the fair—three prizes for the best three puddings.

The Monroe folk are greatly excited about a quilt that was born without a tail. By the time the yarn goes the round of the newspapers there will be a great many tales about that quilt.

$1.00

The little sister of the Wirthmor, the WIRTHOVER, might be termed. Not in the sense that Miss Wirthover is smaller, but rather younger. The Wirthover is made for that class of women who don't want to pay more than a dollar and who still want a dependable Blouse.

Many good things might be said about these new dollar Blouses; it can all be summed up however, in the statement that they are made by the makers of the famous WIRTHMOR WAISTS, and that they fully and completely live up to their good name.

No other Waists at the price can be like the WIRTHOVER, for no others are made and sold in the same economy-effecting manner. They can be sold in just one store in every city.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE from Manager Zanias to Apollo Patrons: It is with a great deal of pleasure that, after a long absence from the Apollo screen, I am able to announce a return of America's Sweetheart, Little Mary. Before contracting for this picture and making this announcement I first satisfied myself as to the merits of this picture and can positively assert without fear of contradiction that "Daddy Long Legs" is Mary Pickford's greatest picture. Never has there been a sweeter story—never has Mary enacted a sweeter role.—of that I am sure. You will enjoy this picture just as much if not more, than you did "Mickey".

ALL TOGETHER

Build Now Repair Now
Paint Now Buy Now

Every Dollar Put to Work Now is a Foundation Stone in Building
Our Local Prosperity.

THERE'S a tremendous lot of building that must be done in this city and we've got to get at it. We need homes, and apartment buildings, and schools, to say nothing of business buildings, and unless we get them soon our city is going to suffer.

For two years all building has been stopped. Population has increased, rents have jumped. People are paying premium prices to find any kind of a place to live in.

We Need To Get Business Going

It's perfectly obvious that such conditions can't be permitted to last very long if this city is to be a desirable place to live and transact business. If we don't remedy it, we'll lose a lot of prosperity that should come to us—and that reacts on every man and woman that lives here.

At the same time, we need to keep business going. The end of the war has brought us an industrial situation that we must face in common. Building is the quickest possible way to stimulate business and tide over this crucial period. And we can build as cheaply now as we will be able to for years to come.

We'll All Profit
If We Work Together

WHAT we need is to get our bankers and property owners and contractors together—of once! We must all talk building, and plan building. Materials are available, railroads can make deliveries, there is sufficient labor, and there's a demand for buildings that is unprecedented. Surely it's a favorable market.

Prices aren't going down soon—there's nothing to gain by delay and much to be lost. Let's get together—and do it AT ONCE.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 15 years of age. I have a brother who is 12 years my senior. He will be married two years in November and they have a little boy 13 months old. I am writing to you for some advice for him. His wife is one of the kind that does not like to work. She tries to make it as if he can't make it. She also treats him very badly, calling him names. I would like to mention in this letter. At times when I pick up with my mother and me. She always tries to lie out of everything and is really not worthy of a good husband and reputation. She has a brother who did not know before he married her. He works very hard, but the more he makes the more she spends. She always tries to give him all her money, but she gives him all her bad clothing, dishes, fruit, and did the washing all for nothing and did all the sewing. Her sister calls my mother all kinds of names.

People who jump into marriage ought to take the consequences. Your own sister-in-law waited until she knew your sister-in-law better. She could not have concealed her temper. I am sure she had recognized money. It should not be a surprise to him, because he had a chance to study her tendency by the use she made of her own money before marriage; and if she does not like to work, he had a chance to discover that before marriage, too. Her reputation is the outcome of her actions; she could have judged the likelihood of a girl who was by her mother of dressing, her associates and her tastes generally.

Unless your sister-in-law is such a bad woman that your brother thinks she is his chance, he should continue to live with her and make the best of his mistake. He should be just about the money he gives her, but he should not live on without permitting her to spend more lavishly than he can afford.

In case of divorce he would probably have to pay her alimony; and he would have to pay for his wife, and if he is not able to live happily with her he should do the best to rectify the mistake he made by marrying her. Do not be entirely unsympathetic in regard to your sister-in-law. You and your mother have done a great deal for her, of course. Do not be imposed upon by her, but do what you can for her and an interest in her point of view will do toward making her a better wife and mother.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl of 20 and care very much for a young man of about the same age. He used to tell me he cared a lot for me, but lately he treats me very coolly. I am sure of this because I did not think he would make him treat me so. How can I regain his love? BETTY.

The young man is growing tired of you. Do not try to regain his love. He would be again a thing of beauty. If he still asks to call, let him come occasionally, but not as often as he would like to. Never telephone him or invite him to do something.

There is no use denying it or trying to conceal the fact any longer. They are here. What? Why? Hips, of course. They are back again in almost the same proportions that they appeared a few generations ago. They are starting in by being accentuated by small ruffles, graceful draperies, and full puffs. Some designers have gone even further and put wired hoops over the hips and the Spanish ruffles are again a thing of beauty.

This dainty and attractive moire frock has just a hint of the new hip lines. It is a golden brown shade made on the hips and lines with inverted ruffles over both hips and all the way down the sides. A delicate net collar with an odd lace edge and sleeves to match are used to finish the blouse. An artistic bit of color is added in the blue and silver ribbon which is used as a belt.

FOR THE MAIN COURSE.
Veal Croquettes.—One cup cold cooked meat finely chopped, two cups boiled rice (hot), two-thirds cup sliced tomatoes, egg, one tablespoon minced parsley, one and one-half teaspoons pepper, egg, two tablespoons cold water bread crumbs.
If a deep fat thermometer is used in the frying the required temperature is 350 degrees F.
Mix rice and meat together thoroughly. Add tomatoes, seasoning and beaten egg. Spread out on platter to cool. Shape into croquettes. Dip in beaten egg diluted with cold water. Then in bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat, hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 40 seconds. Drain on brown paper and serve hot with tomato sauce.

French Chop Suey.—Three-quarter pound round steak, one-quarter pound fresh pork cut in half inch cubes, three large onions, one-quarter can tomatoes, one-quarter cup spaghetti, quarter sweet pepper, half cup onion, one cup celery or celery salt. Fry onions (cut in cubes) in bacon-fat, cook and blanch spaghetti, wash rice, cover meat with water. Fry meat, add rice and cook one hour in saucepan (just simmer), then add tomatoes, onions, celery, spaghetti and sweet pepper. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. To suit taste.

Mocha Duck.—Take a thick flank steak, split open, season and stuff with good bread dressing. Wrap and tie securely with cord in oblong shape so dressing cannot get out. Steam for about an hour and a half.
Take from kettle, brown in greased frying pan, remove cord and serve in meat dish in circle of small boiled then buttered potatoes; make a gravy of the meat juice, thicken with flour.

Scalloped Potatoes and Ham.—Use the boneless smoked ham for this. One thick slice, two thin ones. Put ham in bottom of baking dish. Cover with as many raw sliced potatoes as needed. Sprinkle chopped parsley and chopped onion on top. Pour enough milk over to almost cover it. Bake slowly for about one hour or until potatoes are done and have absorbed most of the milk. No salt is needed if ham is quite salty; otherwise use a little salt; also add pepper to taste.

Salt Cod Dinner.—Two pounds salt cod, six medium potatoes, three canned whole tomatoes, watercress. Soak codfish several hours in cold water, changing once; boil potatoes, cut tomatoes in halves, drain, dredge with flour and saute in butter.

Wipe off fish and broil until brown; serve on a hot platter in a border composed of alternate potatoes and tomatoes, with small bunches of cress placed at intervals; serve with drawn butter sauce.

GYPSY QUEEN DIES
London.—Mary Ann Doe, well known Gypsy Queen of Surrey, died. She was 80 years old and a picturesquely figure at the Ascot races, where for years she told fortunes, sold wares and made money by other means. She was always brightly attired and was one of the few gypsies who spoke the Romany tongue.

DO YOU USE THIS LEXICON?

Yesterday I spoke of "translating" as one of the habits of mind which everyone ought to have. As the word might not carry its meaning to everyone I offered to explain it today.

By translating I mean getting the one I followed to plain view by rendering his like, his dislike, his antipathy, his extravagance, his economy, into terms of your life, your dislike, your antipathy, your extravagance, your economy.

The Douch of Velvet Makes Her Crawl
For instance, I have a friend who cannot bear the touch of certain materials. Especially after her hands have been in the water or after she has been bathing, the touch of such materials as silk or velvet makes her crawl. Now that is absolutely intolerable to me so far as having the same sensations goes. The only way I can understand it is to translate it. I must say to myself, "Those things give her the same nerve discomfort as I get from hearing certain noises such as a pipe being scraped out, the squeak of a steel knife on a tin surface when someone in the kitchen is scraping a dish, etc."

That is, I actually get her point of view if I touch velvet and silk with newly washed hands all day, but I can get it at once if I remember the way my spine crawls at offending noises. Bunches is a Confounding Nuisance.

How many, many times translating things will make all clear. The Bright Lexicon of Marriage. No husband or wife ought to be without the lexicon which helps one to translate another's feelings and points of view into the language of one's own feelings and points of view. Think of the number of irritable criticisms, impatient quarrels that would be avoided if one had stopped to translate. Translation reversed also helps one to understand one's self. One sees some act of another person in a new light. Can it be that similar acts of one's own look that way to other people? Can it be that they are justified in looking at them that way? Of course one does not always feel in the mood to use this lexicon when one has it. One often feels more like hurling it to Jericho. But if one remembers one is also hurling some of one's chance for happiness, it may help to stay the impulse.

12 TO BURY GIANT
London.—It required twelve men to bury Jonathan Swan, the Leyland giant. The coffin measured three feet wide, six feet 9 inches long, and with the body weighed 1192 pounds. No hearse could be secured large enough to carry the remains. The 12 men took 30 minutes to get the coffin into position in the grave.

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

THE DIARRHEA OF INFANTS.

Diarrheal diseases destroy more babies every year than any other cause. The heat of summer is more dangerous to a young baby than to any one else. Thousands of unadvised or advised mothers keep too much food on babies in warm weather, so contribute toward the high death rate from intestinal diseases.

Bad milk is the chief cause of diarrhea in infants. In very warm weather all milk, excepting very warm milk, should be boiled a minute before it is cooled for preparing the baby's food. The only objection to boiling milk is that boiled milk seems to cause scurvy. But scurvy can be prevented by feeding the baby two tablespoons of orange juice, daily; or by feeding fresh vegetables thoroughly cooked and strained through a fine sieve.

No raw fruit of any kind should be given to a child less than 6 years of age.

Too much sugar in the food is a common cause of ordinary diarrhea without fever. A moderate amount with three or four loose greenish stools a day and a little mucus (slime) in the stool. Most proprietary baby foods contain too much sugar or

When sugar is not entirely absorbed the small intestine (which is usually germ-free) it passes to the large intestine, where a moderate amount of sugar is fermented by germs and when a certain acids (such as butyric and acetic) and these acids are very irritating to the bowel, also the skin of the buttock which becomes red and sore.

Bad milk may look and be rich enough, taste very good, and prove comparatively harmless to adults, yet kill babies. The milk becomes bad because it is not kept cold all the time from the dairy to the home, or perhaps not even in the home. Germs multiply at an enormous rate in warm milk.

Therefore it is necessary to boil the milk in hot weather.

When a baby develops an acute diarrhea with or without vomiting it is wise to withdraw all milk feeding and give the baby nothing but barley water for 12 hours. Usually a dose of castor oil is prescribed by the doctor, this being the proper use of castor oil, which sweeps out the bowel, then feed to bind it. After 12 hours the baby may be fed boiled skim milk diluted with barley water, for a day or two, and the ordinary feeding gradually resumed.

Every baby in hot weather should have a tepid bath every night and every morning. Every baby in hot weather should have all the cares to drink between feedings. Every baby in hot weather should be put out in the yard, on the porch or fire escape to sleep, though not in the sun. Keep the baby cool, keep his milk cold, and there will be no "cholera infantum" or severe intestinal trouble.

The Daily Novelette

Being undoubtedly the meanest man in the Day's Work.

in Piteburs, Simon Simons couldn't be expected to pass by a money-saving article like Hank's Hair Cutter.

For he is from Simon Simons, especially when the thing only cost a dollar and two and a refund was offered if not satisfactory.

"M-m-m! Just the thing," muttered old Simon.

After an argument whereby the clerk positively refused to allow the hair-cutter, he left the store on foot (for sanitary reasons only, although he knew old Simon well) the bought the thing.

First, Simons got his wife to cut his hair. Then he cut little Simon's hair; and, as it was a very warm day, little Fleabit the poodle, got clipped.

Then the good old Simon always hated because Bill's whiskers looked so much like his own, got clipped—whiskers first. Next came the chickens wings the wool from the sheep's backs; then the mule got clipped; the horse's tail and, seeing that the trees also needed it, he clipped them, too.

And finally, just as the stars were beginning to creep over the barn roof, old Simons finished clipping all the fringes off his Sunday and every-day trousers. Then he trotted back to the store.

"I want my money back. The thing won't work," Simon said, sourly.

And after proving it to the clerk who couldn't understand it, he got his money back and also seven bunches of asparagus, just to shut him up.

Pieces of Eight

Being the authentic narrative of a treasure discovered in the Tahiti Islands in the year 1805—now first given to the public.

By RICHARD LE GALLIENNE.

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"I should not risk this confession, but that it is easy to see that you belong to the race of Eternal Children, to which, you may have realized, my daughter and I also belong. This adventure of yours after buried treasure has not seriously been for the doubloons and pieces of eight, the million dollars, and the million and a half dollars themselves, but for the fun of going after them, sailing the unknown seas, coral islands, and all that sort of blessed moonshine. Well, Calypso and I are just like that, and I am going to tell you something exciting—we too have our buried treasure. It is nothing like so magnificent in amount as yours, or your Henry P. Tobias'—and where it is at this particular moment I know as little as yourself. In fact it is Calypso's secret..."

"I Came Upon a Beautiful Old Box of Beaten Copper."

I looked across at Calypso, but her eyes were far beyond capture, in un-plummeted seas. "It will show you presently where I found it, among the rocks near by—now a haunt of wild bees. "Can you ever forget that passage in the 'Georgics'? It makes the honey taste sweeter to me every time I taste it."

He Quit Tobacco

This veteran, S. B. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco for many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help him. He learned of a free book that tells about tobacco and how to conquer it. He quickly, easily and safely. In a letter he writes: "I have no desire for tobacco any more. I feel like a new man. Pleasant of others report similarly. Wonderful for cigarette and pipe habit, and chewing. Anyone desiring a copy of this inspiring book can get it free, postpaid, by writing to Edward J. Woods, T.D.-21, Station F, New York City. You will be surprised and pleased. Look for quieter nerves, stronger heart, better digestion, improved eyesight, increased vigor, longer life and other advantages if you quit poisoning yourself with nicotine. In three days you can be rid of the addiction—their become robust, acquire healthy flesh, add years to your life. Show others this adv't."

Rejoices Daughter Can Resume Studies

"Everything my little 12-year-old girl ate distressed her; even a glass of water would cause her to belch gas and she was unable to go to school for nearly a year. I bought her a bottle of May's Wonderful Remedy, and since taking it she is eating us out of house and home and is attending school again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. "We must have some of it for dinner, by the way, Calypso." I could not help laughing, and so, for a moment, breaking up the story. The dear fellow! Was there any business of human importance from which he could not be diverted by a quotation from Homer or Virgil or Shakespeare? But he was soon in the saddle again. "Well," he resumed, "one day, some seven years ago, in a little cave below the orange trees, grubbing about as I am fond of doing, I came upon a beautiful old box of beaten copper, sunk deep among the roots of a fig tree. It was strong, but it seemed too dainty for a pirate—some great lady's jewel box more likely—Calypso shall show it to us presently. On opening it—what do you think? It spilled over with golden doubloons—among which were submerged some fine jewels, such as this ring you see me wearing. Actually, it was no great treasure, at a monetary calculation—certainly not of value—but from our romantic point of view, as belonging to the race of Eternal Children, it was El Dorado. Aladdin's lamp, the mines of Peru, the whole sunken Spanish Main, glimmering fifty fathoms deep in mother-of-pearl and the moon. It was the very Secret Rose of Romance; and, also, mark you, it was some money—oh, perhaps, all told, it might be some five thousand guineas, or—what would you say?—twenty-five odd thousand dollars; Calypso knows better than I, and she, as I said, alone knows where it is now hid, and how much of it now remains."

He paused to relight his cigar, while Calypso and I—Well, he began again: "Now my daughter and I," and he paused to look at her fondly, "though of the race of Eternal Children, are not without some of the innocent wisdom which Holy Writ countenances as the self-protection of the innocent—Calypso, I may say, is particularly endowed with this quality, needing it as she does especially for the guardianship for her foolish talkative old father, who, by the way, is almost at the end of his tale. So, when this old chest flashed its bewildering dazzle upon us, we, being poor folk, were not more dazzled than afraid. For—like the poor man in the fable—such good fortune was all too likely to be our undoing, should it come to the ears of the great, or the indignant criminal. The 'great' in our thoughts was, I am ashamed to say, the sacred British treasury, by an ancient law of which, forty per cent of all 'treasure-trove' belongs to his majesty the king. The 'indignant criminal' was represented by—well, our colored (and not so very much colored) neighbors. Of course we ought to have sent the whole treasure to your friend, John Saunders of his Britannic majesty's government at Nassau, but—Well, he didn't. Some day, perhaps, you will put in a word for us with him, as you drink his old port, in the snugger. Meanwhile, we had an idea, Calypso and I—"

He paused—for Calypso had involuntarily made a gesture, as though pleading to be spared the whole revelation—and then with a smile, continued:

"We determined to hide away our little hoard where it would be safe from our neighbors, and dispose of it according to our needs with a certain tradesman in the town whom we thought we could trust—a tradesman, who, by the way, quite naturally levies a little tax upon us for his security. No-planes to him! I have lived far too long to be hard on human nature." "John Sweeney?" I asked, looking over at Calypso with eyes that dared at last to smile. "The very same, my Lord Ulysses," answered my friend.

And so I came to understand that Mr. Sweeney's reluctance in selling me that doubloon was not so sinister as it had, at the moment, appeared; that it had in fact come of a loyalty which was already for me the most precious of loyalties.

"Then," said I, "as a fitting conclusion to the confidence you have reposed in me, my Lord Alcinous, if Miss Calypso would have the kindness to let us have a sight of that chest of beaten copper of which you spoke, I would like to restore this, that was once a part of its contents, wherever the rest of them" (and I confess that I paused a moment) "may be in hiding."

And I took from my pocket the sacred doubloon that I had bought from John Sweeney—may Heaven have mercy upon his soul—for sixteen dollars and seventy-five cents, on that immortal evening. "Tomorrow," he announced, "tomorrow we shall begin—there is not a moment to lose. We will send Samson with a message to your captain—there is no need for you to go yourself; time is too precious—and in a week, who knows but that Monte Cristo shall seem like a pauper and a penny gaff in comparison with the fantasies of our fearful world."

So, for that evening, all was laughingly decided. In a week's time, it was agreed, we should have difficulty in recognizing each other. We should be so disguised in cloth of gold, and so blinding to look upon with rings and ropes of pearls. When we met at breakfast next morning, glad to see one another again as few people are at breakfast, it was evident that, as far as the "king" was concerned, our dream had lost nothing in the night watches. On the contrary, its wings had grown to an amazing span and iridescence.

Calypso, it transpired, had certain household matters—of which the "king" of course was ever divinely oblivious—that would take her on an errand into the town. These disposed of, we two eternal children were at liberty to be as foolish as we pleased. The "king" bowed his uncrowned head, as kings, from time immemorial have bowed their diadems before the quiet command of the domesticities; and it was arranged that I should be Calypso's escort on her errand.

household matters—of which the "king" of course was ever divinely oblivious—that would take her on an errand into the town. The "king" bowed his uncrowned head, as kings, from time immemorial have bowed their diadems before the quiet command of the domesticities; and it was arranged that I should be Calypso's escort on her errand.

So we set forth in the freshness of the morning, and the woods that had been so black and bewildering at my coming opened before us in easy paths, and all that tropical squalor that had been foul with sweat and insects seemed strangely vernal to me, so that I could hardly believe that I had trodden that way before. And for our companion all the way along—or, at least for my other companion—was the Wonder of the World, the beautiful strangeness of living, and that marvel of a man's days upon the earth which lies in not knowing what a day shall bring forth, if only we have a little patience with Time—Time, with those gold keys at his girdle, ready, at any turn of the ways, to unlock the hidden treasure that is to be the meaning of our lives.

Dinner Stories

The bashful man, after courting the girl for twelve months, had at last screwed up sufficient courage to propose by letter. Immediately his note was posted he regretted his rashness.

And telegraphed in haste to the young lady: "Posted wrong letter to you. Please return unopened." But it didn't work. Two hours later he received a reply: "No, no, you posted right letter. It was about time, too."

She was an incorrigible flirt and she was married. Therefore she deemed it quite safe to say pretty things to the handsome captain by her side. "I suppose," she remarked, "you've broken many a woman's heart?"

"Only one," replied he, "and that was many, many years ago." She scented romance. "Do tell me about it!" she persisted. "Well, several years ago I had occasion to journey up north, my only companion in the railway compartment was a very pretty girl. We rode on for many hours together and no one else entered the carriage. 'Yes, yes,' she interrupted eagerly. 'I never said a word to her or gave her the slightest opportunity to say anything to me.'

A north of Ireland man wanted to send a telegram to a friend in a remote part of the island. The clerk told him the charge would be one shilling and sixpence.

"How do you make that out?" "Sixpence for the wire and a shilling for delivery outside the radius." "That'll be handed!" returned the Irishman. "You send the telegram and I'll write and ask him to call for it."

HIGHWAY TRAFFIC REGULATIONS SAVE ROADS FROM WEAR

(By F. A. CANNON.)

(Executive Secretary, Good Roads Association of Wisconsin.)

This is the second of a series of four articles covering the important highway legislation enacted by the 1919 session of the legislature. Wisconsin has no law regulating highway traffic. With the increase in the number of motor vehicles, and the advent of the motor truck with its big load, within recent years most of the eastern states have devised measures of this character. Wisconsin has just stepped into the breach with a traffic regulation law upon which State Highway Engineer Hirst and the joint highway committee spent much time and study and which has passed both houses.

In its broad outlines, it covers the size, weight, on tires, width of tires, weight of load, and speed of motor trucks, trailers, and tractors used on public highways. By the term tractor is not meant the farm tractor, but those used for commercial hauling, as defined in the bill, "a self-propelled vehicle used exclusively for commercial hauling purposes."

Weight is Limited. The new measure limits the maximum gross weight of vehicles and load combined to 24,000 pounds, and the maximum gross weight of vehicle and load combined on any axle to 13,000 pounds. The total weight of the portion of the vehicle and load combined resting upon any wheel is limited to 800 pounds per inch width of tire. It provides that motor trucks or commercial haulage tractors shall have tires of rubber or some other material of construction of equal resiliency. It limits the width of the loads to 36 inches, and the length to 30 feet, except when the load carried is loose hay or straw or similar material.

In the matter of speed, the bill fixes it for vehicles more than three tons and less than six, including vehicle and load, equipped with pneumatic tires at 20 miles per hour; equipped with two or more solid tires, 16 miles per hour. Vehicles weighing six tons or more with pneumatic tires 16 miles per hour, and with two or more solid tires 12 miles. Vehicles equipped with metal tires weighing more than three tons and with pneumatic tires, 20 miles limited to a speed of six miles per hour. These speeds are to supplement and not replace those otherwise specified in the statute.

Exceptions to Act. There are several clauses providing for exceptions to the operation of the act. Permits may be granted for the operation of trains of tractors, trailers, or wagons not exceeding 100 feet in length between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m., on routes specified in the permit. If necessary to transport a single article weighing 18,000 pounds or more, a permit may be granted upon depositing a bond or certified check to hold the unit of government granting it harmless from any claim, and conditioned upon the restoring of any street or culvert which may be injured through transporting the article.

If a highway or street is liable to be destroyed or seriously damaged by a vehicle, being in excess of the weight on tires may be restricted to 300 pounds per inch by the proper officials placing a sign prohibiting traffic in excess of that over that section of road. This prohibition may not extend over sixty days in any calendar year. No load on any motor truck, tractor or trailer, shall project more than four feet beyond the vehicle unless during a period after a half hour after sunset and before one half hour before sunrise on the next day, and a red warning light shall be carried on the projecting load.

The bill strikes at the narrow wagon tire evil by providing that no wagon or other wheeled vehicle, except animal drawn pleasure vehicles, "seating less than eight persons, with tires less than three inches in width, shall be sold in Wisconsin after July 1, 1920. This bars the sale of the two-inch tire buggy wagon, but permits the sale of four-wheelers with tires of that width.

Regulates Tractors. It regulates farm tractor and traction engine transportation by providing that no tractor or traction engine with a range, clear, spud, lug, or other projection extending more than two inches beyond the surface of the wheel, shall be permitted on public highways. Another section of the bill prohibits vehicles from standing along the roadway in such a manner as to interfere with free traffic, except to make absolutely necessary repairs. There must be a free and usable passageway of at least 16 feet.

Cities of the first, second, and third class are empowered to enact such additional rules and regulations for traffic as they deem fit. The enforcement of this law and the power of granting permits is vested in the official in charge of streets or highways in any unit of government, such as the Commissioner of Public Works in cities and the county Road and Bridge committee and the County Highway commissioner on country roads. A violation of the statute is made a misdemeanor, subject to a fine of not exceeding $100 for each offense, and beyond and above that, the owner of a vehicle damaging a street or other highway is liable in a civil action to recover the damage done.

The final section of the statute provides that those sections relating to wagons shall not be in effect in a county if the county board by a vote of a majority of all the members of the board decides to the contrary.

CLINTON NEWS

Clinton, June 30.—Sunday was an eventful day for the Methodist and Congregational churches, the two societies having previously decided by unanimous vote to unite and form a new church to be known as the First Presbyterian church. The morning service was conducted by Rev. J. A. Noble, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Beloit, assisted by Rev. A. Finn, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Janesville, and Rev. A. Finn, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Beloit. A formal invitation to Rev. A. D. McKay, Portage, to become their pastor, was acted upon, and the following officers were chosen: Elders, Fred Whitmore, three years; Dr. W. O. Thomas, two years; Hiram Cooper, one year; trustees, William Dunn, Warren Latta, Solon Cooper, clerk, Truman A. Shepard; treasurer, Wallace Cheesman. One hundred and seventeen members were enrolled, seven on confession of faith. In the evening Dr. Noble, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Beloit, assisted by Rev. A. Finn, conducted the service. Dr. Noble delivered a fine sermon, after which the ordination of the elders took place, the right hand of fellowship given by the pastors, and visiting members of the Beloit church, and the singing of the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," closed the exercises of the organization of the new church society.

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor, Genoa Junction, were over Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Snyder.

Wears 'Em Right Out in Open, by Heck! Suspenders

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Millersburg, Ohio—Ed. Glinerich, 4, wearing 'em right out in the open, by heck. Ever since the court granted him an injunction restraining the pastor and members of the Amish Mennonite church from "milling" him for wearing suspenders he hasn't given a hang who sees them.

For years Glinerich, who is rich, has been boycotted by members of the Amish sect because he insisted on wearing suspenders. Finally he sought the protection of the court and secured it. Members of the church wear only a cloth belt.

Husky Heavyweights Will Take Ring In 72 Hours

By George McManur

FINAL PLANS FOR BIG BOUT COMPLETED

(By Associated Press.)
Toledo, July 1.—Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will go into the ring for the heavyweight championship contest here Friday. The decision to request the boxers to bandage their hands in the ring is regarded as a victory for Willard, who protested against Dempsey's plans to adjust the tape and bandages on his hands while in the dressing room.

What amount of tape and bandages will be used has not been determined, but Willard said he would insist upon a thin layer of cotton surgical bandages and only enough tape to hold the bandages in place.

Final arrangements regarding the details of the big contest were completed at a conference between the boxers, managers and Rickard, and each camp knows just what is expected of the principals and their seconds. The boxers will wear specially made five ounce gloves and each will be allowed to have five seconds in the corners including the manager or adviser as the case may be. The toss for choice of corners will not be made until the day of battle.

Inquiry About Grease.
Willard inquired whether Dempsey intended to grease his body as he heard was being done previously to the daily workouts. He said that it did not make any difference to him which way the challenger appeared, provided he knew in advance and could do likewise.

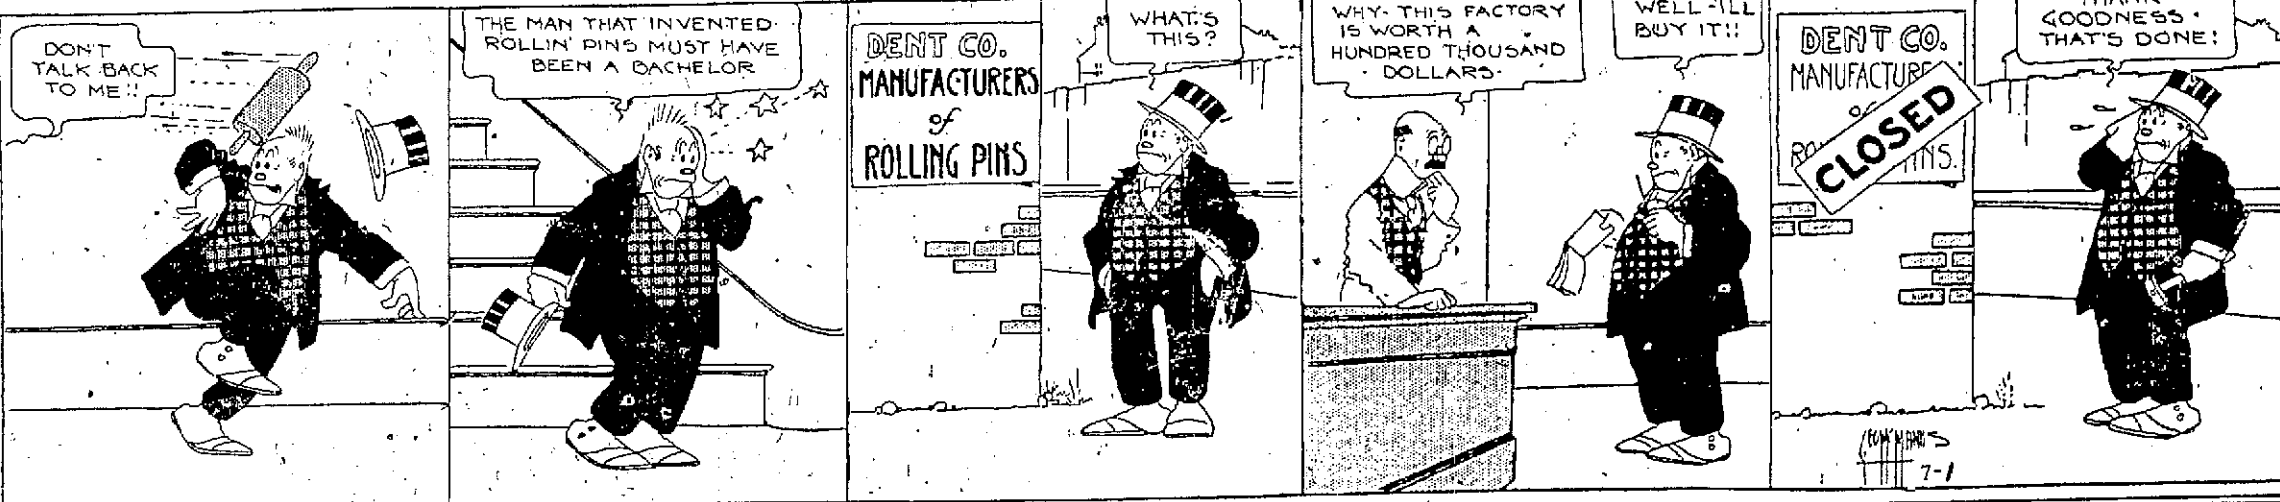

Dempsey told Rickard he had never greased his body at any time and had no intention of doing so for the championship bout. While this is a favorite trick of wrestlers it is not the usual custom among boxers, although offering certain advantages in a long fight. The oil or grease, rubbed into the skin until absorbed by the pores, immediately comes to the surface again when the athlete begins to perspire and soon his body is so slippery that it is impossible to secure a firm hold or clinch in either wrestling or boxing as the case may be.

Ready Ring Record.
Preparations are being made to report the coming contest on a scale exceeding anything at previous ring battles. The record established at Reno with the gathering of newspaper writers and photographers for the Johnson-Jeffries fight will be easily surpassed here. Noted sport specialty writers from all parts of the country and Canada are present or en route and hundreds of seats have been reserved in various sections of the arena for their accommodation. There will be more than fifty wires set up at the ringside to carry the reports from the scene of the contest to every portion of America and to cable points for European service.

Special airplane service for the photographers has been planned and from these low flying planes expert camera men, some of whom served in the same capacity with the army abroad, will take films of the contest in action and the scenes in and around the arena. Immediately the contest is finished several of these planes plan non-stop flights to Chicago and New York that the photographs may be ready for reproduction in Saturday papers. The most ambitious proposal, however, is a scheme to fix with the pictures to the Pacific coast in two relays.

Ringside Movie.
These photographs will have no connection with the moving pictures taken at the ringside for exhibition purposes. The movie men will occupy a platform erected atop a high steel tubular column, from which point of vantage they can film the ring scene and every portion of the fight stadium. This column has been so placed that it will not obstruct the view of any of the spectators and the height of the platform lifts its head above the line of vision of the loftiest row of seats in the arena.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF LEAGUE OFFICIALS THURSDAY EVENING

By agreement among the various captains and managers it has been decided to hold a meeting of City league representatives at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night at 7:30 for the purpose of laying down a definite set of rules and regulations. Every one of the six teams in the league should arrange now to be fully represented at the meeting. Captains and managers are urged to be there promptly at 7:30 as the meeting will start at that time. Several disputes and arguments which developed from Saturday's opening game will have to be settled. The Parker Pen-Barb Wire game has been protested by the wire makers. On the other hand the rubber turners say the Barb Wire team had four outside players. Physical Director W. P. Craig suggests that because of the fact both teams are protesting, the game be counted.

In order that officials may be prepared to talk and do business in a hurry at the meeting Thursday, it is suggested that they meet with their teams and find out what arrangements and rules will be most satisfactory to them. In case meetings are not held players should communicate with their captains.

Here are a few of the questions to be threshed out:
Shall umpires be selected just before the games or shall a list of volunteer umpires be made out and appointments made at beginning of season by special committee?

Shall outside representation on teams be limited to two men?
Who shall be considered a local man?

How long must a man be employed to be eligible?
How about filing eligibility lists and with whom?
Shall the league go two rounds or three? Two rounds would mean ten games for each team and three rounds would mean 15, and would carry the league to October, postponed games being played Wednesday evenings. With two rounds the league would continue to August 30.

Officials are asked to make up their minds on these questions by consulting with members of their teams, so they will be able to represent the thought of all the men when they gather Thursday night.

SMOKING IN CHURCH
London—Among the suggestions made by parishioners of St. James' Church, Bernoldsey, to make the Sunday evening service more popular are that part of the church be reserved for smokers; that the lesson should not always be taken from the Old Testament, but from Carlyle or Ruskin. One was suggested turning a hearty laugh at Charlie Chaplin does more good than any pie-jaw.

JIM THORPE MAY BE DEPRIVED OF CHANCE TO SHOW

Jim Thorpe.

Jim Thorpe was a tickled Indian when the Giants recently sold him to the Braves. He has always believed that he could soon overcome his weakness as a batter if given a chance to play regularly. He never had this chance with the Giants. He saw his chance with the Braves, who planned to make him a regular outfielder. But Jim has been recalled by the Giants because of the refusal of Javey Robertson to join the Pirates and complete a three-cornered deal.

Egg, Stove, Chestnut and Pea

SOLVAY COKE is made in regular hard-coal sizes for every requirement.

Egg or Stove for large furnaces. Chestnut for small furnaces and hot water boilers and for kitchen and laundry stoves and grates. Pea for magazine furnaces, hot water heaters and for banking fires.

MILWAUKEE SOLVAY COKE Saves Time, Work and Money

The lady of the house likes SOLVAY COKE because it is clean and does not create smoke, soot or dirt. Makes housekeeping easy. Men like it because it is light in weight and easy to handle—leaves no ashes worth sifting.

It is Easily Controlled

The house may be kept at any desired temperature with little attention. SOLVAY does not burn out fire pots or grates. Cheaper and better than hard coal.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

Otto Miller, who at present is doing the bulk of the catching for the Robins, may be one of the oldest men in point of service on the Flatbush club, but of the trio of Brooklyn catchers, Miller, Krueger and Zaak Wheat, Uncle Robbie considers him the most reliable muck and milt artist he has. Mooney, as he is known by his mates, did not break into the game very often until the closing days of the western trip just completed, and in the bases he showed that he had lost none of his old-time skill. At the outset of the race Ernie Krueger was the first string backstop of the Flatbush crew, and although Ernie is a powerful batter, he encountered great difficulty in throwing accurately to the bases and as a result of his inability to throw out those of the enemy who attempted to steal, Uncle Robbie overlooked his batting strength and shifted him to the bench and selected Miller to receive the offerings of the hurriers and mow down would-be stealers.

In the recent series played in Chicago Mooney caught three games, and while the records show three bases were stolen while he was behind the plate, only one of the Cubs deserved to be credited with a theft. Black in the first session of the initial contest Miller worked shot a single to center and stole second. Mooney's throw to the bag was good, but Ernie, who took the heave, did not make any attempt to tag the runner as he slid into the bag. In the ninth frame, when the Robins had a commanding lead, Ernie cut him down and stole second and third untested, but as the only way there is to account for advancements in such a situation the runner was credited with two stolen bases which he did not deserve. In the same game Miller broke up an attempted double steal with Pick and Merkle on the base paths. In the second game Lear, who is filling in for Hollocher, attempted twice to take liberties with Miller's throwing arm and each time the backstop threw the ball to Olson at second in time to get the Cub substitute. In the next battle Fred Merkle was the only Cub who tried to steal a base, and Miller's throw to Olson cut him down at the keystone sack.

Mooney knows the weakness of the opposing batters and in handling the Robin hurriers he shows rare judgment. To catch the moist deliveries of Cheney and Grimes is about the toughest job a major league catcher can be assigned to, and before he came back as the Robins' first string backstop Uncle Robbie sent Mooney behind the plate nearly every time one of the Robins' spitball pitchers worked. Miller says it is like a vacation to work behind the plate when any of the other members of the Robins' staff are working. Miller caught the speedy shoots of Al Mamaux in Chicago and the backstop did much to steady the former Pirate star when the Cubs filled the bases with one out in one of the rounds. After the game Miller's left hand was bruised from stopping Mamaux's fast ones and incidentally the marks proved that Al still has some of the smoke that made him famous in Pittsburgh. While Miller is not the long distance clouter that Krueger is, he is, however, a dangerous batter. In gas he caught in Chicago he batted out a total of five hits and crossed the plate twice.

Larney Lichtenstein, manager of fighters and wrestlers, who is well known in pugilistic circles, has come out flat-footed and says he will bet $300 against $1,000 that Jack Dempsey will defeat Jess Willard at Toledo July 4. Larney has made three trips to Toledo to watch the fighters. He is firmly convinced the challenger will win.

The Follow-up System

Plain Tales of Plain People.

ALL business people use it. So does the Salvation Army, which is engaged in the greatest business in the world—the salvage of men.

The Salvation Army is not content to save men alone. It sees to it that they keep saved. If the man who has been helped falls—he can come back again. And the Salvation Army will go after him and get him if he doesn't come back himself.

Girls who have been in a Salvation Army Home are asked to become personally responsible for aiding other girls to climb the path to Self-Respect on which they themselves have risen. They do it. It is an endless chain.

The Salvation Army never lets go of any one.
